GEOSPATIAL SOFTWARE GLOBALLY

CONFERENCE SPONSORSHIP

WHAT'S PLANNED?

- A 1-day FOSS4G "mini-conference" open geospatial event featuring keynote addresses, full-length presentations, and lightning talks from our local open geospatial community
- An evening social hosted by FOSS4G Perth for FOSS4G attendees and ISPRS delegates
- Reciprocal access to events - ISPRS delegates can attend FOSS4G Perth, and vice versa

WHY SPONSOR?

Sponsoring FOSS4G Perth aligns your brand with a positive, community-focused initiative and enhances visibility among local and international delegates. It offers access to potential future hires, opportunities to network and build relationships, and supports the free and open-source software community, with the added bonus of generating warm, fuzzy feelings from knowing you are making a positive difference.

WHO IS ATTENDING?

Members of the FOSS4G Perth community come from a wide range of perspectives: small-to-medium business owners, contractors, government and academia, geology & mining professionals, the startup ecosystem, hobbyists, and more. Our partnership with ISPRS in 2024 also ensures we will reach a global academic community.

We expect an audience of 100-150 participants at FOSS4G Perth, and an additional 300 at the ISPRS Technical Commission IV Symposium.

AUDIENCE PROFILE

- Government and companies - representatives from public and private sectors seeking modern geospatial technologies to enhance decision-making and operational efficiency.
- Developers, users and advocates of FOSS4G - individuals and teams developing, using, and promoting open source geospatial software and technologies.
- Academics from the global community - researchers engaged in advancing geospatial science and technology.
- Students - graduate and undergraduate students poised to become the next generation of open geospatial professionals.
